Creating mind-maps

- Creating a coloured mind-map allows you to make notes in a different form and also provides a more visually engaging way of revising those notes.
 1. Write the main topic in the middle of the page and draw a ring around it;
 2. For each key point that comes off the main topic in separate branches, use a different colour;
 3. Ensure key words & phrase stand out;
 4. Look for links between the different branches and show these.
- It can also help to use symbols/images for key ideas so they stand out.
